In a communication, City Engineer Keisey called attention to the dilapidated condition of street and sidewalk pavements outside of the Culmer-Jennings paving contract, now in littganings paving contract, now in litiga-tion, and urged the importance of ad-vising the council to set aside $2,000 for the proper repair of the pavements by contract. constituted the Republican convention in the Third precinct last evening. This best of machine oil was used in every primary. Every delegate chosen in the county of the whole 114 is for James T. Hammond for congress, with one exception.

George M. Cannon of the Eighty-seventh district announced last night to The Herald that he was unpledged and did not know whether he would vote for Hammond, they would vote in the convention for any one else just as readily and heartily if they got the tip to that effect from headquarters.

There were forty-five people present in the moeting was held in the Plymouth Congregational church. It was called to order by George J. Spencer, chairman of the precinct. W. N. Williams was elected chairman of the meeting, and Moses W. Taylor secretary.

After the call for the meeting had been read, T. D. Lewis moved that a recess for five minutes be taken in which time each district would select one delegate to the state convention, and then the extra three would be selected at large by the whole convention. This motion carried, and when the meeting was again called to order to order by George J. Spencer, chairman of the precinct. W. N. Williams was elected chairman of the meeting had been read, T. D. There were forty-five people present at the First precinct primary; fifty-six at the Second, forty-eight at the Third, forty at the Fourth and twenty-four at the Fifth, making 213 at the five conventions.

This makes an average of four people from each district, or one voter to each of the delegates chosen to the state convention. The Democratic primaries last week were attended by 1,509 voter. Thirty-first, A. S. Geddes: Thirty-sec, and, Robert Bridge; Thirty-third, W. J. Yard; Thirty-first, G. A. Jones, Thirty-sec, The Democratic primaries were held at home in the districts.

This total lack of interest on the part of the people in the Republican primaries was undoubtedly due to the fact that it would make no difference in the result whether they attended the meetings or stayed at home. So they stayed at thome. So they stayed at a home may be the property to a few political workers.
